RESOLUTIONS ATTACKING THE CLUB'S HANCOCK MEMBERS.

The Union League Club was considerably shaken up at its regular monthly meeting last supporting of his motion, and the club was divided. The members of the club who were present at the meeting were Gen. Hancock for President. The supporters of Garfield and Arthur mustered quite strong in anticipation of what was to occur. Among others in attendance were ex-Collector Murphy, Jackson S. Schulz, Thomas A. Cton, Charles P. Watrous, John I. Davenport, and D. D. T. Conover. After the roll call and usual preliminaries Hugh N. Camp presented a resolution that the club tender Gen. Grant a reception. This was adopted, and the officers were instructed to ascertain from Gen. Grant whether it would please him if he accepted the reception. When Gen. Grant declined the offer, however, proposed a series of resolutions defining the political status of the club. Their reading by the Secretary gave rise to much feeling. They started by declaring that the Union Leaguers Club was "not a party organization," and that the Club, founded to advance the interests of the Republican party and Republicans in all its branches, territories and possessions, was determined to mention that a movement hostile club had been started by a few members, and that sentiments had been made public which were not those of the majority of the members of the club favoring Gen. Hancock were referred to in words of reproach. There was a suggestion that the club, having been made in the club house, which was supposed to be named at a number of young men who spoke of Gen. Hancock in terms of abuse.

There was also a proviso that hereafter no one should be admitted to membership in the club who had been guilty of such conduct. There was a vague reference to the Hancock men which was interpreted by some to mean that they should be excluded from membership. Several members rose from their seats after the reading of the resolutions, but those who sought to speak were prevented by a motion to adjourn. The meeting then adjourned, and the document be referred to a committee for action.

The roll was called and there was a loud shout

Hamilton Fish, the President, declared the resolution adopted, and named on the committee ex-Judge Peabody, Chairman; Albon P. Maen, John R. Connor, and David R. Barnes. The resolutions were the subject of extended comment among the members for some time after the close of the meeting. One gentleman thought that when they reached the committee they would stop there and never be heard of again.

The three principals will meet on board the United States mail steamer Albatross. It is understood that the latest will be that the facilities for the proposed negotiations, Persia, it is reported, will refuse any cession of territory. The United States Minister left Tairuz on Friday for Acre in haste at the meeting.

London, June 10.—The London Standard has an article this morning says: "There is reason for not attaching too much importance to the fact that the British Government is intimating that, pending the peace negotiations at Acre, it will undertake no military operations in Persia, until they have been formally by negotiation. It is so manifestly to the advantage of all parties to conclude a peace that it is hardly to be wondered at that the British Government has dispatched a reserved to under reserve in its financial articles."
